PREFACE

This handbook is intended as a method of communicating to Teacher Associates/Paras regarding general District information, rules, and regulations. Because this handbook is a general source of information, it is not intended to be, and should not be interpreted as, a contract. It is not an all-encompassing document and may not cover every possible situation or unusual circumstance. If a conflict exists between information in this handbook and Board policy or administrative procedures, the policies or procedures govern. It is the employee's responsibility to refer to the actual policies and/or administrative procedures for further information. Complete copies of the personnel policies can be found in the Faculty Handbook or Student Teacher Handbook

Any employee is free to review official policies and procedures and is expected to be familiar with those related to his/her job responsibilities. Although every effort will be made to update the handbook on a timely basis, the District reserves the right, and has the sole discretion, to change any policies, procedures, benefits, and terms of employment without notice, consultation, or publication, except as may be required by law. The District reserves the right, and has the sole discretion, to modify or change any portion of this handbook at any time. The District reserves the right to not change Handbook and carry-over provisions from year to year as allowed by law and policy.

WELCOME

We welcome you as an employee of the Sidney Community Schools. As reflected in our mission statement, we take our commitment to serving the future of our society—our children—very seriously. The work you perform as an employee is ultimately for the purpose of serving the students of the District. You have a valuable role in making the District an effective and efficient organization that educates and serves our students. We wish you success and happiness in your position with the District.

GENERAL EXPECTATIONS

- Always be prompt both in reporting for work and in completing assigned tasks. If an emergency makes it necessary for you to be late to work or leave early from work, notify or ask your supervisor for permission as soon as possible.
- Establish a good attendance record. Only be absent from work when it is absolutely necessary or when you are on a pre-approved leave.
- Courtesy and cooperation are two basic elements of success in your job and every job in the District. Be courteous and cooperative with the public, fellow workers, prospective employees, teachers, students, and parents who are all a part of the District you serve.
- Maintain open lines of communication. If any instructions given by your supervisor are not clear, ask for further explanation to make certain that you understand exactly what is expected of you.
- Try to be as clear and concise as possible when explaining matters to the public and to your fellow employees. Use language that can be understood by everyone and avoid using slang or jargon.
 - Always try to work carefully. Mistakes can be costly and at times, dangerous. If you make a mistake, be sure to find out exactly what happened and how to avoid making the same mistake again. Notify your supervisor of the mistake.
- Remember to keep all District business confidential. While many things that happen at the District are a matter of public record, releasing information about them is the responsibility of specific offices and individuals. Refer any unusual requests for information to the appropriate authority.
- Dress appropriately for your type of work. Maintain a well-groomed, modest, clean, neat, and businesslike appearance at all times. Remember, you are representing the District to students and the public.
- SCSO believes that employees' concerns are usually most effectively addressed at the lowest possible level within the organization. Therefore, employees are ordinarily expected to address issues and concerns with their immediate supervisor first. If the issue cannot be resolved at that level, the employee should move to the next level within that employee's chain-of-command.

COWBOY PRIDE

The Sidney community is proud of its students and school system. We all work diligently to improve student learning, create positive situations for student activities, and graduate citizens ready for the 21st century. To that end, faculty take on many positions to promote Sidney students -- some paid, some volunteer. While we are all busy people and have personal lives, the administration encourages you to attend as many Sidney school events as possible. Supporting students outside the classroom can make vital connections in the classroom.

No more than five (5) days may be taken for any one occurrence in the death of a family member, except in the case of the death of a spouse, mother, father, grandparent, or a child, in which event all of the employee's remaining bereavement days for the school year may be taken. A family member is defined as one related by kinship, blood relationship, adoption, marriage, foster parent, or foster child. One day may be taken to attend the funeral of a non-family member, but such day is deducted from the total of ten days. Additional days taken for bereavement purposes may be given at the discretion of the Superintendent of designee.

YOUR ROLE AS A CLASSROOM ASSOCIATE

Whether you are a new associate/para or a veteran, it is important to discuss the role of a classroom associate. The specifics may change slightly from classroom to classroom, but overall your role is to assist the classroom teacher in helping students learn and keeping them safe. When it comes down to it, you are there for the students. You are there to provide extra help in a classroom, so students can learn at their individual level and have their more specialized needs met. Some of these specialized needs may include toileting, self-help, behavior, academic, or communication.

So how do you know how to help them learn and meet their needs? The classroom teacher and special education teacher will guide the process. The special education teacher writes the Individualized Education plans (IEP's) for each student regarding how a child will receive educational services. The teacher knows all of the important details that must be followed. Your role as an associate is to follow the lead of the teachers. If you ever have any questions regarding student work, classroom setup, or behavior interventions, ask the teacher. Do not change things without discussing it with the teacher. It's the teacher's name on the IEP and that is who is legally responsible for getting the educational needs of each student met.

Your specific job duties will change based on the classroom you are in. You may be asked to do things such as take data, run small groups, clean parts of the classroom, provide toileting assistance, monitor break time, attend inclusion classes, redo work activities, set up activities for the following day, make new class materials, and more. If you are ever unclear as to why you are assigned certain tasks, please ask.

There are basic rules that must be followed, just like any job; such as returning from lunch and break at the correct time, not using your cell phone, limiting socializing with other staff members, and dressing appropriately. However, this job setting those rules are even more crucial because we are dealing with the lives of a very special group of children. Our jobs are extremely important. It is our job to teach children to communicate and interact with others in their community with success.

CONCLUSION

Teacher Associates are encouraged to consult with their supervisor any time there are questions about information contained in this Handbook or on other District policies and practices. Teacher Associates also may contact the principal or superintendent for such assistance. Thank you for accepting this important job and for being an important part of the team at Sidney Community Schools.
